APRIL 2026

Barcelona, Spain

■ CONFERENCE SESSIONS

- Biomaterials
- Applications for Biomedical Devices
- Material for Textile
- Drug Delivery
- Emerging Materials for Energy Storage and Conversion
- Advanced Semiconductor Materials for Electronics and Photonics
- AI and Machine Learning in Materials Design
- Nano devices and Applications
- Mining and Metallurgy
- Material Recycling
- Innovations in Surface Science and Engineering

■ ABOUT MSNC 2026

STEM Network is delighted to present the Materials Science Conference 2026 (MSNC-2026), taking place April 16–17, 2026, in the vibrant city of Salles Ciutat del Prat Barcelona Airport, Barcelona, Spain. This prestigious event will unite experts, innovators, and researchers from across the globe to showcase cutting-edge discoveries, emerging trends, and transformative advancements in materials science and nanotechnology.

At MSNC-2026, we are dedicated to creating an open and dynamic platform where knowledge is exchanged, collaborations are forged, and ground-breaking ideas are brought to life. Our goal is to inspire progress in materials science and engineering by integrating diverse expertise, addressing critical global needs, and advancing the creation of sustainable, high-performance materials for a better future.

■ REASONS TO ATTEND

- ▶ Networking Opportunities
- ▶ Career and Professional Development
- ▶ Interactive Sessions
- ▶ International Collaboration
- ▶ Cutting-Edge Insights
- ▶ Comprehensive Educational Opportunities
- ▶ Thought Leadership and Influential Speakers

About Venue:

Barcelona, a city known for its creativity and innovation, provides an ideal setting for MSNC-2026. Spain has a strong tradition in materials science and nanotechnology research, contributing to global advancements in advanced materials, sustainable technologies, and engineering solutions.

The conference venue offers modern, fully equipped facilities designed to foster collaboration, knowledge exchange, and networking. Attendees will benefit from an environment that inspires innovation while engaging with peers from around the world, all within the vibrant cultural and scientific atmosphere of Barcelona.

HOW TO REGISTER

In order to register for MSNC-2026, please complete the online form available on:
