About Venue:

Selecting the Netherlands as the host for NAPC-2026 is a decidedly strategic choice. Cities like Amsterdam, with their iconic canals and centuries-old architecture, offer more than just visual appeal they set the stage for serious academic engagement. The country's robust investment in psychiatric research and behavioral health is evident, not just in its institutions but in the way mental health initiatives are integrated into daily life

The Netherlands' commitment to evidence-based clinical practices and pioneering approaches to mental health care makes it an ideal setting for scholarly exchange. Altogether, the Netherlands stands out as a leading destination for advancing the discourse on mental health, scientific discovery, and compassionate care.
